

Webshop integration with AX 2012

This document describes the integration between AX 2012 and a webshop
Version 2013-10-15. Updated by DAV

Architecture

Client applications

Exchange the XML business document with the SOAP proxy web service. The SOAP based web service bring the advantage of wider range applications written in programming languages that might not prepared for consuming WCF web services.

SOAP based proxy web service

Built on the classic SOAP, working as a broker to receiving the XML request and pass it on to the AX 2012 AOS using WCF service through .NET business connector.

AX 2012 AOS

Receiving and parsing the XML request, base on the XML document root node, find the related handling class. The request handling classes are implemented in X++ classes, bringing the full ability of the business process implementation with the advantage of easy, agile of auditing, improving, bug fixing and even for upgrading to the next version of AX.

On the other hand, X++ handling classes are compiled to CIL, bringing the full performance improvement of AX 2012.

XML files

Per each of the below mentioned XML requests are described in detail in the following parts of this document.

Demo web base test client is available at <http://epldata.dyndns.org:8080/EPLWSI/default.aspx>
